Just Arrived and Falls Prey to Three Countrymen

ATTACKED IN WOODS

Foreigners Aroused and Threaten Lynching if Miscreants are Caught

Attacked by three of her own countrymen while on the way to visit her sister in Midland, Mary Szarwaski, aged 15, just arrived from Poland, is in a serious condition at the home of her brother-in-law, John Sadowski, in Midland, while foreigners of that place and vicinity are so enraged that lynchings are feared if the girl's assailants fall into their hands. Constable Benjamin Rathbone of Houston is searching for them in an automobile while other Washington county officers are assisting crowds of foreigners.

Since word was received from Ellis Island, N. Y., Tuesday morning that the girl had arrived from Poland, her sister, Mrs. John Sadowski had awaited anxiously for the arrival. She had not seen the girl for years. But the child was taken to the house at 4 o'clock this afternoon in an almost unconscious condition and was scarcely able to speak to her sister.

The girl boarded a Panhandle train for Canonsburg about 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon. She can speak no English and was happy when she found three men passengers who were of her own nationality. They appeared kind to her and learning her destination said they would take her to Midland. The three men and the girl left the train at Houston, the nearest way to Midland, the men said.

Instead of going toward Midland, however, the party took the opposite direction. The girl did not know. Reaching a woods about half a mile from the Greek mines, the men stopped. The girl was tripped and a handkerchief tied over her mouth so she could not scream. She was kept a prisoner for at least an hour. Finally the three foreigners walked away leisurely. They knew the young girl was unable to walk.

Hearing sounds, the wounded child, leaving her baggage in the woods, started to crawl in the hope of locating someone to take care of her. It was 3 o'clock in the afternoon when she reached the Greek mine, her clothing torn and stained and her hands and knees bleeding from contact with rocks and brush.

Harrison Cummings an attendant at the mine, carried her to the engine house and brought men who could understand her. Dr. S. N. Dague of Westland took the girl in charge and later conveyed her to her destination.

The foreigners at Midland have raised money to provide automobiles for the search and a reward probably will be offered for the capture of the three men.

Opened Headquarters.

The Democrats and Keystoneers of the borough have opened campaign headquarters in room No. 3 on the second floor of the Masonic building at the corner of McKean avenue and Fifth street. Telephone service will be installed, and the room will be open during the rest of the campaign.

J. J. Cairns Calls Halt

Candidate Would Check Public Extravagance in Office

"Johnny" Cairns of Roscoe as he is familiarly called in Charleroi, who is a Republican candidate for the nomination for the county commissioner, was circulating among his friends Wednesday evening. Mr. Cairns believes in a business and not a political administration of the office of commissioner. He also believes in the equalization of taxation and says the burden should not be placed on those least able to bear it. "A political administration," says Mr. Cairns, is always wasteful and extravagant." He is well regarded in Charleroi.

CAN'T STOP MEN LYING

Court Says Injunctions Do Not Cover This Case

Trouble which has been brewing between the miners and the Pittsburgh-Buffalo coal company at Marianna reached court this week, when Attorney James A. Wylie read a petition to the court on Tuesday asking that an injunction be granted to restrain certain men from circulating false statements about the company among the miners at Marianna on the grounds that the men were trying to start a strike.

The petition set forth that statements being made by Patrick Gowan, Mike Cello and Steven Karbush were false and upon investigation officers of the miners' union were proven false. The court gave its opinion that the facts shown were not sufficient grounds for the issuing of a preliminary injunction but that a hearing could be given. The court said that it could hardly issue an injunction to restrain men from lying, but that the company should bring suit for slander against the men.

The court further stated that this was about as far as the injunction business could go and that it was the limit and that the alleged falsifiers could go among the men if they did not use violence.

COMMITTEE ABSOLVES PRES. FRANK FEEHAN

District Executive Fully Exonerated From Charges by Malcontents--Not Necessary to Resign Office in Interests of Harmony

From present indications it is probable that the differences existing between the Feehan and the Gibbons factions in the miners' organization in the Pittsburgh district may be harmonized without the resignation of District President Feehan. For a time this seemed necessary, and it is said was proposed at the deliberation of the International Executive Committee which was in session at Pittsburgh for nearly three weeks. Now the committee has reported approving and sustaining President Feehan, and the latter will in all probability continue in office to the end of his term. This is a matter of gratification to President Feehan's many friends in Charleroi and along the river, where he is used to live and is immensely popular.

The decision of the Executive Board, which was rendered Tuesday evening in Pittsburgh by a sub-committee to whom the matter was referred, sustains the contention of Feehan and his adherents in every particular. The trouble between Feehan and Gibbons began two years ago and culminated last winter when Gibbons, who lives at Cecil, stood against Feehan for the presidency of the district and claimed his election. Feehan is not only recognized as the member from this district, has been seated, rejecting the claim of the Gibbons representative. Court proceedings were begun some time ago to have Feehan ousted, but the suit was withdrawn. Gibbons says the fight will be carried to the international convention to be held in Indianapolis in January.

The Executive Committee is still in session in Pittsburgh, where every effort is being brought to bear to harmonize and pacify the warring element.

ASSESSOR FINDS MANY TRANSFERS

Building Improvements This Year Mostly in Nature of Additions

Assessor Allen S. Mansfield is busy making the annual assessment. He received the duplicate September 7, and the law specifies that he return the books on or before December 1. Mr. Mansfield says that this is rather a short period in which to make a thorough canvass of the town and note all the improvements, new buildings and transfers of property, and comparatively few of the returns in the larger town are made within the specific time. He finds many improvements in the way of additions, particularly in the hill district. There have also been many transfers of property during the past year.

NEW SCHOOL CODE IS IN FULL FORCE

The Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg is calling the attention of various boroughs to the opinion of Judge Shafer of Allegheny County, sustaining the new school code. The decision grows out of a test case brought by the borough of Dormont questioning the right of the schoolboard to assess and collect taxes on the ground that the school code would not become effective in such matters until next year. The same question was raised in other localities. The court held that the code became effective as soon as it was signed.

COURT HANDS OUT 22 DIVORCE PAPERS

Twenty-two divorces were granted in decrees handed down by Judge Taylor Wednesday. They were all submitted to the court Tuesday morning upon the testimony of the commissioner. The argument list is not large this time and the court lost no time in going over the papers and reaching his decision. The number is about the average that is granted each argument court. One suit was referred back to the examiner to state more explicitly when the desertion occurred. Among those granted was that of Julia Bodner vs. John Bodner of Charleroi, on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment.

An important deal was closed Monday at Monongahela when the River Consolidated Coal and Coke company purchased the Coulson farm on the Williamsport pike paying in the neighborhood of $50,000 for the property. ## W. C. T. U. TO LOOK AFTER THE BOYS

Women Believe That It is Much Better to Form Than to Re-Form

A called meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. E. Dawson and judging from the attendance and zeal manifested, it is expected something will be "doing" along the line of temperance in the Magic City. The business of the Union was transacted after which a resolution was passed to take up as a department of work, "our boys." Under existing conditions the women believe is better to form than to re-form.

It was decided to hold a market every Saturday afternoon, in the window of Mrs. E. Dawson. Plans for future work were discussed at length, after which the union adjourned to meet Tuesday evening, October 3 in the Baptist church.

SOCIALISTS TOLD TO GET OFF TRACK

The Monongahela Times is authority for a story to the effect that at Donora candidates for borough offices on the Socialist ticket who were employed in the steel mills there were called "on the carpet" and told to get off the ticket or lose their jobs. The effect of this is said to have withdrawn the Socialist ticket from the field, and as neither the Democrats or Keystoneers have nominated a ticket the Republican ticket for borough officers will be unopposed.

ENGINEERS WORKING AT OFFICE DETAILS

The engineers of the State Highway Department which is going to construct a portion of route No. 118 from Speers to the end of the Maple creek road this fall, have finished the field work. Candidate for Commissioner Wants "Square Deal" for All Today was A. W. Clemens of Buffalo township, candidate for the Republican nomination for county commissioner. When he announced Mr. Clemens propounded a platform which he says he still adheres to. This platform is: "I favor the uniform assessment of property subject to taxation so that all will pay an equitable proportion of taxes. I believe all the officers of the county should be paid salaries. I assure you that if chosen to be your servant I will devote my best efforts to a square and straightforward business-like administration of the county's affairs."

WORMS NOT SALABLE

Pure Food Agents After Dealers in Stale Cereals

BUGS ARE ALSO BARRED

Local grocers may soon expect a visit from the agents of the State Pure Food Commission. Commissioner James Foust says his department is preparing to make war on the cereals containing bugs and worms and warns the public against buying package goods that are not guaranteed. The commission said:

"This is the season when the agent of the cereal dealer tells the grocer to stock up with all the brands of breakfast foods the factories are turning out and which an unsuspecting public will consume before another crop is grown.

"Reposing on shelves or in warehouses, the packages soon will be filled with innumerable bugs and worms. The agent thus is a promoter of high prices in the trade next year by inducing the guileless retailer to load his shelves with enough goods to last until next season. Right here is where the pure food department comes in and proposes to make it hot for such offenders."

With this warning local dealers can avoid trouble by cleaning out their old stuff before the agents get busy.

Charles Griffon is Shot and Wounded by Ralph Woodring

MAKES UGLY CHARGES

Assailant Accuses Victim of Having Wronged His Sister

A decided sensation was created at Coal Centre last evening when Charles Griffon, 32 years old, was shot and seriously wounded by Ralph Woodring, 22 years of age. Both are well known young men about town and the affair created intense excitement. The shooting occurred on River street near the bridge over Pike Run, and is alleged to have resulted from a belief on the part of Woodring that Griffon had wronged Woodring's sister. Griffon is in the Coal Centre lockup awaiting the result of Griffon's injury.

According to Griffon's story this morning Woodring and his brother-in-law, Harry Dickson, were driving along River street in a buggy when they met Griffon near the Pike Run bridge. The men stopped and Woodring alighted from the buggy and he alluded to have tried to get Griffon to get into the buggy and drive with him out to his home. Griffon refused, and Woodring drew a revolver, which he pressed against Griffon's stomach, and threatened to kill him, if he did not comply. Griffon shoved the revolver away and started to run, whereupon Woodring fired, the bullet striking the fleeing man below the shoulder blade, and passing through his body lodged in his side between the ribs. Another shot or two was fired which went wild. The wounded man bleeding profusely staggered to his boarding place at the home of the Pringle family in Coal Centre. Dr. G. B. Frantz of Coal Centre was summoned. At first sight the wounded man appeared in a critical condition, but after his wound was dressed he rallied, and this morning is quite comfortable. Unless complications set in the doctors expect the man to recover.

Immediately after the shooting, Woodring gave himself up to Constable John Pyle. Woodring was placed in the lockup pending a further investigation of the case. It is said that on being locked up Woodring told the constable the shooting was accidental.

Woodring, who lives outside of Coal Centre, was married on Monday of this week at Washington. Griffon, who is employed in the mines, lives in Coal Centre, and both are well known young men. The girl who is the supposed cause of the trouble between the two men is under 28 years of age. Woodring's home, where his bride of but two days is now living, is in East Pike Run township not far from California.

Griffon denies that he wronged Woodring's sister and states that the two had always been good friends. Woodring is still in the lockup at Coal Centre, where he is held on a charge of felonious assault and battery and shooting with intent to kill, and to await the nature of Griffon's injuries.

FOR THE PEOPLE.

The installation of the postal savings bank gives to the public a most beneficent institution. It caters to the small depositor in a manner that is not practical by private institutions, and it inspires a confidence that cannot be attained through any other source. It is the savings bank for the masses, and in time it will prove a bulwark of strength to the nation.

Aside from the stability of the institutions there is an impersonality about the business that appeals to the people. Uncle Sam cares nothing about the individual's private affairs, and is not curious to know. He keeps absolutely mum, and if there is any leak about the business of the institution, some one will be called to account. Not doing a banking business, there can be no calling up to inquire if a depositor has anything to his account. Strict privacy is one of the advantages, and the humble depositor can have as much secrecy as the more affluent. The system is pre-destined to reach gigantic proportions and to add to the thrift and well-being of the people.

A HUGE MISTAKE.

According to the Washington Observer since Washington county inaugurated the policy of building roads under the Flinn law—that is, the entire cost of construction and repairs being borne by the county—forty-two and one-fourth miles of road have been completed at a cost of $533,521.98, and thirty-four and one-tenth miles more are under contract, the estimated cost of which will be $491,576.40. In addition, the grand jury has approved thirty-six and five-tenths miles more at an estimated cost of $536,315.45, making 112 miles of road which when completed will cost the taxpayers the immense sum of $1,611,413.78.

The deplorable feature about this system is that it does not embrace a continuous highway system, the roads being a crazy patchwork of a mile or two here and there in practically every township of the county in order to satisfy claims for political purposes. Had this amount been expended under the Sproul or State aid plan, the State would have assisted in the engineering and would have contributed for repairs in the future. More than that, the townships would likely have contributed another million under the plan and the county could have had double the number of miles of roads it now has at a less cost to the county taxpayers.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Women who would not take anything for their complexions often give something for them.

Some men who may not be exactly ciety for Reducing People's Fortunes.

Those who assert that a person cannot do two things at once, forget about the girl who plays the Many a girl catches the man she wants by pretending to catch the man she does not want.

Some men are so self-contained that they imagine a high hat is a halo.

Being in debt never seems to worry some people. They let the other fellow do the worrying.

Some women are so careless they don't even get their complexions on straight.

It's a safe proposition to regard the man who wants to put you wise to a scheme whereby you can cop a bunch of money as your deadly enemy.

In motor circles it is said that a put in the road may be the power behind the thrown.

One of the advantages of having company for supper is that you can tell a story without your wife informing you that you've told it before.

The man who tried to get rich quick usually ends up in having about as much money as the one who saved it by not having it to squander.

Some men don't know enough to know that they're better appreciated in their own households by not staying at home too closely.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"The beneficent effects of the postal savings bank was manifested the very first day," said Postmaster J. E.
McCardle in speaking of the institution, which was opened in Charleroi Tuesday. "A young married man came and opened an account, saying:
"I am not in a position to save much money, but I have made up my mind that I am going to put by a dollar a week."
"This is one of the advantages of the postal savings bank. Many people think that amount too small to take to any of the banks, but they realize that Uncle Sam is impersonal to depositors, whether they save large or small amounts. Indeed, it is the small accounts that the postal banks invite, and no comment is made.
The accounts are strictly private, and the depositor can draw them out at any time without previous notice.
The absence of hard and fast rules is one of the advantages to the public."

"When the Government instituted the postal banks last January, it was largely experimental. Only 48 depositories were opened, one in each State. The one in Pennsylvania was located at Dubois, in Clearfield county. At once the popular response was immediate. On February 28 after the plan had been in operation a little less than two months, there were 3,664 accounts with total deposits of $133,869. The aggregate population of the 48 towns in which the banks were instituted was but 379,000. From this the postal officials figure that if the savings system should be patronized only in the same proportion when it is established in every money order postoffice, the yearly deposits would amount at least to $200,000,000.

And the best of it all is your money is safe. Uncle Sam guarantees it."

MISS DOROTHY IS "COMMON"

Her Friendliness Was the Kind That Made People Feel at Home With Her.

When people asked Mrs. Hobart which of the two Lombards she liked the better, she was always prompt to reply, "I like em both first-rate, but Miss Dorothy is my favorite, because she's so common. Miss Mary is different."

"Common!" echoed the summer boarder to whom Mrs. Hobart first made this statement. "What do you mean?"

"Why, I mean common," repeated Mrs. Hobart with firmness, "like folks.
What else does common mean, I'd be glad to know." One day they came to see me together and I hadn't more'n sat down with em before I heard something on the stove sizzling the way they do when they've got all but to the top and are just about ready to surge over. I said, Excuse me a minute, and ran for I don't let things boil over on my stove, not if I was kings and queens in the sitting room.
"When I came back they sat here, looking pretty as roses, both of 'em.
And Miss Mary said, In that sweet voice of hers gazing out over the hen yard, What a pleasant view you have,
Mrs. Hobart?"

"Now that was real society tact, I suppose, for the window she'd chosen don't command any view beyond the hen yard out the barn. But Miss Dorothy bless her little heart, looked right at me with her eyes all twinkly, and she said 'O, I hope it didn't boil over, Mrs. Hobart, and I felt at home with her right off.'—Youth's Compan-

An Eskimo's Dwelling.

We do not look for any great amount of inventive genius among the Esquimaux, but for years they have employed a rather complete respirator, used in the preparation and taking of a vapor bath, as a means of protection from the dense smoke. This Esquimau respirator is a little basket woven of twisted strands of fine grass. It is placed with its shallow side against the mouth, and a wooden peg, which arises from the center of the basket, is held between the teeth. For this purpose water is evaporated over a big fire in a very low hut, which is tightly closed to keep in the heat. In this stifling atmosphere the employment of a respirator is absolutely necessary.

is that what you mean? I thought you meant the story he told last night when he came home from a time with the boys."

An Ordinance, authorizing The Charleroi Telephone Company, its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate its ducts, mains, pipes, cables, wires manholes, distributing poles and all other necessary underground appliances, on, in, under and through the streets, alleys and highways within the limits of the Borough of Charleroi, in the County of Washington and State of Pennsylvania; and prescribing the manner of placing the same, and regulating the use of the streets, alleys and highways by said company.

The Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Charleroi, in the County of Washington and State of Pennsylvania, do ordain and enact as follows:

That permission be and is hereby granted to The Charleroi Telephone Company, its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate its conduits, ducts, mains, pipes, cables, wires, manholes, distributing poles and all other necessary underground appliances on, in, under and through the streets, alleys and highways within the limits of the Borough of Charleroi, in the County of Washington and State of Pennsylvania; and to use the property of other companies and to permit such other companies enjoying franchise privileges within the Borough to use its property upon such arrangements as the two companies may agree.

Section 1. That all distributing poles erected by said Company shall be neat and symmetrical, and the length thereof shall not be less than thirty (30) feet above the surface of the ground, and shall be so located as in no way to interfere with the safety or convenience of persons traveling on or over the said streets, alleys and highways; and in the installation and maintenance of its underground system said Company shall not open or encumber more of any street, alley or highway than will be necessary to enable it to perform the work with proper economy and efficiency, and further that conduits shall be laid in alleys where practicable.

Sec. 2. Before any conduits are laid or distributing poles erected on any street, alley or highway the said Company shall submit to Council a map or plan showing the approximate location of said conduits and distributing poles, and if approved by Council the same may be placed or laid. Should the Council fail to approve any map or plan as to the locations of any distributing poles, conduits or manholes, they shall designate some other location suitable for the purposes of said Company, and said Company shall replace and properly relay any sidewalk or street pavement which may have been displaced or damaged by it in the construction and maintenance of its system under the direction and supervision of Council or some authorized representative of Council.

Sec. 3. That space in the conduits constructed under the provisions of this ordinance shall be reserved, free of charge, for the purpose of carrying wires of any fire alarm or police telegraph system owned and maintained by said Borough, provided the said wires are placed and maintained in such a manner as may be prescribed by the said Company and in no case used to carry high tension currents.

Sec. 4. In the event of any change or changes in the grade

STEEL SPECKS IN THE FLOUR

Man of Science Announces Gravely That This Is One of the Causes of Appendicitis.

Dr. Edred M. Conner of London, alleges that appendicitis is due to white flour. Steel from the mill rollers gets into the flour. We eat this minute steel and as it goes round the bend it shunts off on the blind side. In time it stacks up like a culm heap and irritation ensues.

A good part of the steel is absorbed, to be sure. That explains why it is not found in any of the cases operated on. But the point is, no doubt, that more than the 10-penny nail of iron allowed to each mortal is taken in and the body's magnetic equilibrium is thereby upset. The man who invented graham bread died of indigestion, but if he had drawn a magnet through it before baking he would have removed the steel particles and might have lived forever.

The wise cook today will buy a small magnet and thoroughly stir her flour with it before putting in the water and yeast. Let her wipe off the magnet every little while. The black specks that adhere are tiny bits of steel. Bread made in this way may be eaten without fear of appendicitis.

Worry Don't Help.

There is no using need to worry about the future of anyone—men carve their own way to undying Fame or sink into Oblivion despite what we may say in praise or blame.

Most Valuable Possession.

I am much disposed, the longer I live, to set less value upon mere cleverness, and to think that the power of endurance, with persistence, is the most valuable of all.—Huxley.

"SEA FRUIT" IS DELICIOUS

Many Little Shellfish of the Mediterranean of Which the French Make Good Use.

Fruits de mer ("sea fruit"), this is the comprehensive name by which the numerous little shellfish of the Mediterranean are known; the term, affectionate if you will, which the French use in speaking of these contributions of the sea which are at their best in Marseilles and all along the Riviera, over the border into sunny Italy.

Marseilles is the great fish market of southern France and Leghorn of northern Italy, while Naples of course is the center for southern Italy. Along the quays of all three cities an epicure on his rambles will find much of interest and many a new sensation for his palate.

Bouillabaisse, even before it was made famous in literature by Thackeray, was considered the piece de resistance of southern France and marelle de poisson a close second. But for my part the most luscious morsels of the fruits of the blue Mediterranean are the little shellfish which are sold from the booths along the quays or in the open air kitchens where amid odors of garlic and oil, a whiff of the salt air from the sea and of great masses of wet seaweed upon which the shellfish are temptingly arranged make the nostrils dilate even as the sight of the seductive wares tickle the palate and force one to stop and investigate.—Epicure.

THING HE CAN'T DO WITHOUT

His Regular Sleep, and This He Finds He Must Have at His Regular Hours.

"One thing that I find I must have," said a man of mature years, "is sleep, and in order to keep fit and able to work I must not only have my full amount of sleep, but I must have it in my regular sleeping hours."

"When I was a youngster I could go without sleep, or I could take an hour or two at any time of the night and get up the next morning and go at it fresh as a daisy, but it isn't so now. If I cut off an hour or two's sleep now I am dull next day. Not until the next day after that, after a full night's sleep, do I come back all right. And even after my full number of hours of sleep, if these have been begun an hour or two later than usual, with the sleep continued later, I don't feel chipper; I must have my full sleep in my regular hours. I account for this on the supposition that I now have strength enough to keep me going through the day in good shape, just so long and no longer; if I work or sit up later I overtax my strength and so make myself correspondingly overtired; and to recover from this I must come back to my accustomed ways of living."

DIDN'T SEEM TO WORK OUT

Dog Owner's Idea Bright Enough, but Somehow Her Memory Got Twisted.

To Miss Bounce, who knows nothing whatever about dogs and can scarcely tell a greyhound from a St. Bernard, Mr. Kennell presented a fine young Airedale terrier. He was extremely wide awake and active, even for a pup, and the young lady was kept constantly on the alert to prevent his getting into mischief or running into danger. Casting about in her mind for a suitable name for this restless animal Miss Bounce remembered that in her school days she had learned in her philosophy that "wind is air in motion." What more appropriate name, then, for the young Airedale than Wind. So Wind he was called. His name, thought Miss Bounce, also will aid me memorably to remember the name of the species to which he belongs.

"What kind of a dog is that pup of yours?" asked some one a few weeks after the christening.

Miss Bounce's eyes roved anxiously for an instant, but steadied themselves directly as she replied with serene confidence, "He is a Wind Hound."

The Royal Oak.

The actual tree into which Charles vanished was backed to pieces within a few years by relic hunters, and the present royal oak at Boscombe is merely a descendant. A salver made from the bark of the oak is still possessed by Oxford university, and countless frames and snuff boxes claim to be made out of the same sacred material. Charles II. intended to commemorate his escape at Boscombe by establishing a new order of "Knights of the Royal Oak," but thought best "not to keep awake animosities." The name of the "Royal Oak" has been preserved in the navy since 1664. The first ship to bear this historic name met with an ominous fate, being burned by the Dutch when they came up the Medway in 1667. Oak Apple day, now little observed except by school boys, was formerly a great anniversary and for long after the Restoration a Royal Oak invariably figured in all civic pageants.—Westminster Gazette.

Worth Remembering.

"Remember, brethren," said the good man, as he closed the Bible and gently shook a forefinger at his hearers, "there are no steam whistles in heaven, and no angel is going to get into trouble for twanging a harp over time."

To the Public

My business having brought me in close touch with the taxpayers of the county and understanding what the public desires in the way of reform, I pledge myself, if nominated and elected to the office of county treasurer, that I will advertise for bids from banks and trust companies of the county and will appoint depositories paying the best rate of interest and will require said depositories to furnish adequate security. I am opposed to the policy of making any one banking institution the depository for all the funds of the county, but favor distributing the funds among the banks and trust companies.

I promise to pay for my own bond so that no banking institution, individual or political faction can say that I am under obligation to them.

I promise that I will use no influence on the county commissioners in their effort to make a fair adjustment of the fees of the treasurer. Personally I favor paying the treasurer a salary.

I promise to conduct the office for the benefit of the public and not in the interest of any banking institution or individual.

I believe that publicity in public affairs is essential for the proper administration of any public office and I will keep the taxpayers familiar with the business of this important office through the newspapers of the county. No office holder should fear the light and the press is the best agency for the enlightenment of the public.

I promise to give the office the same careful consideration I have given the business in which I am engaged and invite the voters to investigate my record at home.

Assuring you that I will exercise all my ability in safeguarding the country's money for the best interests of the taxpayers, I submit my candidacy to the voters and ask for their influence and support at the primaries September 30.

HE WROTE THE GREAT PLAY

Friends Praised It, Famous Manager Took it to Read—and Then He Woke Up.

"My friends had always insisted that I could write a great play," said Jordan, "if I would only set my hand to the task. Well, to be frank, I had long cherished the idea myself that I possessed the ability to do something worth while in the way of providing material for the stage. Like so many of my fellow laborers in the journalistic field, however, I found it exceedingly difficult to secure the time which was necessary for the production of a drama. The best I could do was to steal an hour now and then to devote to the great work. This I did faithfully and zealously, and, after two years of study and earnest endeavor my play began to near completion."

"My friends were enthusiastic. I had been fortunate enough to hit upon an entirely new plot, and, if I may say so, I had handled it admirably. Each of the four acts was filled with thrilling situations; the comedy was subtle and insinuating; the pathos was genuine and the interest was splendidly sustained. Having administered the finishing touches, I took my play to a great producing manager. He had an office in a large building on Broadway.

"With my play done up in a neat package I entered the anteroom, where a young man greeted me respectfully and admitted that the great manager was not out of the city. In fact, the young man consented to take my card into his employer. I had waited only a minute or two when the young man returned and graciously conducted me to the manager, who cordially shook hands with me and said that he would be glad to personally read my play and consider it strictly on its merits."

"Yes. What then?"
"Well, just at that moment something fell somewhere, making a loud, clattering noise, so I crawled out of bed and put on my clothes."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Library for Children.

A library for children is a comparatively new thing in London. A new one in Manresa-road, Chelsea, is a model of its kind. It had its origin in a boy's room, concerning which Earl Cadogan, when he opened it, made the fierce joke that "as everyone knows, a boy's room is better than his company." Out of this boy's room grew the children's library, a place of deep silence, where boys and girls meet for the common pursuit of knowledge.

GRIPS AS MUSCLE BUILDERS
Traveling Salesman Seems to Have Idea Which Might Really Be Called a Good One.

After dinner they were discussing athletics, and each had his favorite method of reducing or building up. The traveling salesman proudly called attention to a remarkable development of biceps which swelled up beneath his coat sleeve. "Very good, indeed," said the professor, testing with his fingers. "How do you accomplish it?" "My method is extremely simple and takes no time away from my work. In fact it is a result. These muscles have been developed by carrying heavily loaded 'grips,' as we usually call our big handbags on the road. I always carry two, loaded as nearly alike as possible, so I shall not be over-balanced. I began with only one grip, and swung it from one hand to the other, as fatigue impelled but I found that it is actually easier to carry two than one. I am perfectly balanced with two, and I assure you I need no extra gym work for strengthening my arms, shoulders or back. I almost could carry a piano in each hand if the instruments were not so cumbersome."

By a tenth inning rally the fast Carmichaels team aided and abetted by Pete Knisely, ertwhile of Wheeling Guy Kerr, a catcher of some repute and others, won the first game from Charleroi at Carmichaels Wednesday 9 to 8. The game was a good one.

Scissors McIlvaine started in to do things with the bunch from Carmichaels but after he had occupied the mound with more or less—principally less—credit went to right field to change his mind about a few matters. Meanwhile Kiefer was told to act as understudy. Charleroi scored in the fourth, sixth and tied the score then in the eighth.

CURIOUS TRAITS OF A. NIALS

Peculiar Habits of Flies, Hens, Mice, Snakes and Goldfish, Some of Them Unexplainable.

A fly on a window pane will crawl to the top, fly back to the bottom and crawl up again. This order is seldom reversed. Why, no one knows. It is on record that a fly crawled up a window pane thirty-two times, returning each time a-wing.

Hens scratch for food with the sun behind them, the reason being that the rays reflect on the minute particles. A blind hen will pick grain and not unless a kernel.

Cats seldom lie with their feet to the fire. Usually they lie on the left side. Dogs lie with their fore paws to the fire.

A mouse will ignore a food supply sufficient for a meal and run great risks to nibble at a wholesale supply, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. It will hide at the source of food supply and not depart therefrom until actually disturbed. It isn't true that a mouse runs to a hole at the first alarm.

Find a harmless little snake the length of a lead pencil and provide a box for it in the house, visit it daily, and at the end of three months it will crawl to you for food.

Goldfish usually swim around a globe to the right. They can be taught to take a fly out of the hand in six weeks' time. The presence of other fish in the globe is generally ignored by goldfish. Drop a piece of chip on the surface of the water and it will frighten a fish.
